FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

IASA supports Model-Based Development conference

The International Association of Software Architects (IASA) has joined the list of organizations supporting next year's Code Generation 2007 conference in Cambridge, UK.

Code Generation 2007 will bring together leading software developers, vendors and consultants from 18th - 20th May 2007. Cambridge-based Software Acumen, operators of the web's number one free resource on Code Generation – The Code Generation Network - are organizing the event.

The event programme is under development but will include keynote addresses, tutorials and other sessions from thought-leaders in the field of Code Generation, Model-Based Development, Software Factories and other related areas.

The deadline for submission of session proposals is 12th January 2007. Please visit the event website for more information on the type of sessions being solicited and the submission process. Accepted session leaders will have their conference fees waived.

IASA members who participate will receive a 10% discount on their conference fees.
