

Session Proposal Form

Submission Deadline: Friday December 9th 2011

Session title

Session type and duration

Read about the different session types at <http://www.codegeneration.net/cg2012/speak.php>. Durations are typically 45, 60, 75 or 90 minutes but longer proposals are welcome

Session abstract

This should be a brief description of the session focusing on its content and objectives. You will need to cut and paste this text into a web form as part of the submission process. The session abstract will be used on the event web site to promote your session.

Benefits of participating

What will participants get out of taking part in the session? It is very important to think about this and describe it in your proposal.

Process & timetable

How will the session work? You might want to describe any exercises or group working. Consider providing a detailed timetable. Indicate the way in which the audience is involved.

Session outputs:

Indicate the form of any outputs (e.g. web page, poster at conference, blog posting etc) and their likely content (summary, actions points etc.)

Intended Audience

Note any required skills/knowledge/ experience. What job roles would this session be particularly applicable to.

Availability

Indicate if there are any constraints in your participation or whether it makes sense to run your session before or after another session you've proposed.

Detailed Description / Supporting Information

A fuller description of the session describing the content, rationale and describing any previous occasions on which the session has been run.
